ORAL JUDGMENT

By way of present petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner had prayed for an appropriate writ, direction or order directing the respondents to grant admission to the petitioner in PTC College. It is required to be noted that the instruction, which was relied upon by the petitioner, was for the academic year 1993-1994 and even the petitioner sought admission in PTC Course in the year 1993-1994. Initially, while issuing Notice, this Court granted ad-interim relief directing the respondents to keep one seat vacant, however the said interim relief was limited one and the same was not further extended. Therefore, at the time of admission of the present Special Civil Application, interim relief was not pressed since the ad-interim relief had expired. There is no further interim relief. Considering the fact that the petitioner sought admission in the academic year 1993-1994, the present Special Civil Application has become infructuous by afflux of time. Hence, the petition is dismissed as having become infructuous. Rule is discharged.
